

Embossing Pads

As almost an extension to last months 3D tip of the month. As well as rollers there are a multitude of flat pad embossing designs available. And if the pattern you want is not available it could easily be 3D printed.

These are useful if you or your significant other is into card crafts enough to own or have access to a card embossing machine. This is like a small tabletop mangle. Do you remember the old joke about “we haven’t laughed so much since granny caught her . . .” (Never mind Ed)

The 3D printed die can be applied above or below the good surface to give an embossed or debossed result, and it can be used for horizontal paving, cobbles etc or vertical brickwork, stonework etc.

If this grabs your imagination, or sparks an idea of your own, let me or Davy or any of the usual suspects know, via the usual channels.

And if I don't see you beforehand, have a Happy Merry and a Guid New ...
